

MLM Versus Employee

1. Starting a home based MLM business takes courage but is a fantastic opportunity to change your life. After all, you may have a decent job with a comfortable salary, but are just looking for more out of life. Starting a network marketing business is definitely a 180 degree change from paid employment, in the sense that you have no boss telling you what to do. You have someone else dictating your time off and what you are worth. On the other side of the coin in mlm you are responsible for your success, you are 100% responsible for generating your own income...if you do not put in the effort, you are not going to be successful. Network marketing is a REAL business and a thriving growing industry at that.

2. Family & friends may call you crazy. This is something that nearly everyone that has been successful in network marketing will tell you and has had to deal with at one time or another. Our society is backwards in the sense that people see "making someone else rich" as the logical choice. This is absolutely insane. However, if you are a true entrepreneur and really want to change your life for the better, then you must ignore the naysayers and focus on growing your business and believing in yourself. Proving people wrong is a powerful motivator, and will help catapult your home based business and leave paid employment, JOB (just over broke) behind.

3. You control your own destiny. In the corporate world, no matter how hard you work there is only a certain level that you can attain. However, with network marketing anyone can make it to the top of the industry, regardless of age, experience level, or education. A home based MLM business does not play favorites; it simply rewards the people that have passion and desire to get out there and share their company with others and take charge of their future ...period!
